Pokemon GO is now breaking up relationships!
Posted About Six Months Ago by Chad

From nypost.com:

Pokémon Go ruined my love life!
Evan Scribner claims he's now single after his girlfriend discovered he was "cheating" on her — thanks to the geolocation feature in the addicting scavenger hunt-style cellphone game. Scribner told The Post his big mistake was playing the game after canoodling with an ex-girlfriend in Bushwick.

There's a Pokemon in my restaurant, and business is booming

The mobile game leads players to virtual creatures located in the real-world, using a phone's mapping software to record where each Pokemon is captured. And that means anyone snooping around a player's phone would be able to see his or her whereabouts at a given time.
